Nebraska Extension has an excellent opportunity for a full-time faculty position located in Tekamah, NE in Burt County. This educator’s primary responsibility is to develop and deliver educational programs and resources as an active participant in the Nebraska Cropping and Water Systems Team within a geographic area that includes Burt, Thurston, and Dakota Counties in northeast Nebraska. This educator is expected to collaborate closely with colleagues, state and federal agencies, industry representatives, and crop producers to deliver precision agriculture strategies related to resistance management based on the goals and objectives of the Cropping and Water Systems Team. The focus of this position will be rainfed and irrigated crop production systems for corn and soybeans. Recognizing that diversity within a context of inclusivity enhances creativity, innovation, impact, and a sense of belonging, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources (IANR) and Extension are committed to creating learning, research, Extension programming, and work environments that are inclusive of all forms of human diversity. We actively encourage applications from and nominations of individuals from underrepresented groups.

Review of applications will begin January 21, 2021. Position will remain open until a suitable candidate is found or search is closed. Candidates must apply online at http://employment.unl.edu, requisition F_200156. Click “Apply for this Job,” or sign on and complete or review existing Information Form. You will be required to attach the following documents: Cover Letter, Resume, List of three professional references, Transcripts (official or unofficial) or grade report listing courses taken, the institution where they were taken and final grade. Transcripts must be attached to the online application (as “Other Document”), attached to an email and sent to jmackin1@unl.edu, or faxed to 402-624-8010. Please make sure to black out your social security number before you send or upload your transcripts/grade report.
